2 – BUSINESS ENVIRONMENT

COUNTRY BACKGROUND

The Commonwealth of The Bahamas (The Bahamas) is an archipelago spanning over 100,000 square miles and extending from 50 miles outward to 760 miles southeast from Florida’s southern coast in the United States of America to northern Hispaniola.

The Bahamas has an estimated land area of 13,878 square kilometres (5,358 square miles) and comprises some 700 islands and 2,400 cays. Of the 700 islands, 30 are inhabited, with approximately 90% of the population on New Providence islands (where the capital, Nassau, is located), Grand Bahama, and Abaco.

The Bahamas is a constitutional monarchy and a parliamentary democracy based on the Westminster model, with a functional two-party system. Under this system of government, the Prime Minister and his cabinet are responsible for the legislature. The Bahamas gained independence in 1973 from the United Kingdom and has the constitutional safeguards of freedom of speech, press, worship, movement, and association. The Head of State is Queen Elizabeth of the United Kingdom, represented locally by His Excellency Sir Cornelius Alvin Smith.

POPULATION

The Bahamas has a population of 393,2441. The ethnic make-up of the population is 85% Black, 12% White, and 3% Asian and Latin Americans.

CURRENCY

The legal currency of The Bahamas is the Bahamian dollar (BSD). However, the US dollar (USD) is pegged on a par with the Bahamian dollar by legislation. Within the banking system, conversion of foreign currency, including US dollars to Bahamian dollars and vice versa (1 USD: 1 BSD), is subject to an official exchange rate. The Bahamas launched its first digital currency, the Sand dollar, in October 2020. The Central Bank of the Bahamas issued the digital Sand dollar and carries the same value and consumer protection as a traditional Bahamian dollar.2 The launch of the Sand dollar by The Government of The Bahamas places The Bahamas as one of the few countries globally to launch a digital fiat currency.

DOMESTIC MARKET
The Bahamas operates as a mixed, free-market economy with state enterprises as well as private sector businesses. The Bahamian government completed the sale of 49% of The Bahamas Telecommunications Company in 2011 after 14 years of trying to privatize the state-owned enterprises. In 2015 a new telecommunication company named “Aliv” was established as a mobile provider, and Cable Bahamas was granted a license to provide landlines. Together, the two mobile operators have partnerships with 600 + network operators in almost 200 countries. Therefore mobile telephones from virtually any country in the world roam efficiently in The Bahamas.

Key industries in The Bahamas are tourism, banking, fishing, seafood, cement, oil transhipment, salt, rum, aragonite, pharmaceuticals, and spiral-welded steel pipe. The Bahamas is one of the wealthier Caribbean countries with an economy heavily dependent on tourism and offshore banking. The Bahamas is a high-income developed country with a Gross Domestic Product (GDP) per capita of $32,218 (2018). The Free National Movement (FNM) government, elected in May 2017, has sought to manage an economy dealing with the dual, unprecedented economic crises wrought by the passage of Hurricane Dorian in September 2019 and the effects of the global COVID-19 pandemic, projected to inflict combined losses of $7.5 billion or 60 percent of GDP. According to Standard & Poor’s April 2020 forecasts, The Bahamas’ GDP growth is expected to fall by an unprecedented 16 percent in 2020 due to COVID-19. Full economic recovery is not anticipated until 2022, subject primarily to the tourism sector’s buoyancy and post-pandemic global economic recovery. Both the International Monetary Fund (IMF) and the Inter-American Development Bank (IDB) predict The Bahamas could suffer the most severe economic contraction of all Caribbean countries.

With tourism-driven construction and manufacturing, tourism accounts for approximately 60% of gross domestic product (GDP) and directly or indirectly employs half of the archipelago’s labour force. Before 2006, steady growth in tourism receipts and a boom in construction of new hotels, resorts, and homes led to solid GDP growth, though since then, tourism receipts have begun to dip. The global recession took a sizable toll on The Bahamas, resulting in a contraction of GDP and a widening budget deficit.

The decline was reversed in 2010–2011 as tourism from the US and sector investment returned. GDP growth in 2011 was 1.6%, rising to an estimated 2.5% in 2012. Services comprise 91% of GDP. In 2018, The Bahamas saw a significant increase in tourism, partially due to the Bah Mar Hotel and Casino’s opening, listed as the largest casino floor in the Caribbean. The country saw another increase in 2019, recorded as its record-breaking year, with over 78 million tourists visiting The Bahamas. The more significant percentage of visitors are by Cruise Ships (70%), and the remainder were considered overnight tourists arriving by airplanes or pleasure watercraft.

Financial services comprise the second most important sector of the Bahamian economy after tourism and account for about 15% of GDP. However, the financial industry is currently smaller than it has been because of the enactment of new and stricter financial regulations in 2000 that caused many international businesses to relocate elsewhere. As of the beginning of 2019, 221 banks and trust companies employed more than 4,000 persons, with the largest single concentration in local domestic banks (3,163 persons). Other entities within the sector include three money transmission businesses (MTBs), ten local credit unions (CUs), 50 insurance companies (Ins. Comp.), 19 financial & corporate service providers, and 63 investment fund administrators. Notable Government-sponsored entities include the Bahamas Development Bank (BDB), the National Insurance Board (NIB), and the Bahamas Mortgage Corporation (BMC). Within these operations, eight banks and trust corporations operate either wholly or in part within the domestic space, and 29 of the insurance companies.

Manufacturing and agriculture combined contribute less than 7% of GDP and have shown little growth, despite government incentives aimed at those sectors.

KEY INTEREST RATES

As of January 2017, the Bahamas’ Central Bank lowered the prime interest rate from 4.75% to 4.25% and the bank discount interest rate from 4.50% to 4.00%. The interest rate on residential mortgages averages 5.4%.

FOREIGN TRADE

There are no significant barriers to foreign trade, and trade in The Bahamas is relatively easy. There are, however, tariffs imposed at the border in the form of customs duties. Key facts on foreign trade are taken from the department of statistics are as follows:

- In terms of exports, the United States ($474 million), Caribbean ($5.4 million), and Europe ($4.7 million) were among the top partner countries, representing 88%, 1%, and 0 87% of total exports, respectively.

- Imports of goods and services amount to BSD 3.3 billion. The United States ($2.6 billion) maintained its position as The Bahamas’ leading trading partner representing 81% of total imports, the United Kingdom ($41.4 million), and the Caribbean ($51.9 million), representing 1.2%, and 1.5%, respectively.²

FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS

Commercial banks, private banks, and credit unions are involved in the great majority of financial transactions in all sectors of the Bahamian economy. Private Banks handle business transactions and are very similar in their operations to commercial banks, but tend to specialize in private savings, personal loans, wealth management, and the financing of house purchases for wealthy individuals.

The Central Bank of The Bahamas is a financial institution that regulates the banking industry, manages the Bahamian currency, money supply, and interest rates.

STOCK MARKET

The Bahamas International Securities Exchange Limited (BISX) was incorporated in September 1999. In May 2000, BISX successfully launched its domestic market to list and trade with local public companies. Currently, there are 20 domestic public companies listed on BISX. In April 2001, BISX launched a mutual fund listing facility. This listing facility is targeted at the needs of international investors who may require the extra visibility afforded by a listing on an established securities exchange as a basis for their investment vehicle choice.

BISX is formally registered with the Securities Commission of The Bahamas as a Securities Exchange under the Securities Industry Act, 1999. As a Securities Exchange, BISX is vested with the authority and responsibility to regulate its members and listed companies following BISX rules. The BISX rules operate to ensure fairness and transparency related to the enforcement of regulatory responsibilities, membership, listing procedures, continuing obligations, and pursuing disciplinary action.

The organizational structure has been designed to ensure that BISX has both a commercial and a regulatory focus. BISX was incorporated as a private company and is owned by 45 dedicated shareholders comprising stockbrokers, banks, investment companies, pension funds, mutual fund administrators, corporations, and individuals.
3 – FOREIGN INVESTMENT

Heavy foreign investment has been a feature of the Bahamian economic scene for a long time. However, foreign direct investment (FDI) inflows into the Bahamian economy fell by one-third in 2019.

BAHAMAS INVESTMENT AUTHORITY

The government’s proactive economic growth and development policies are guided by the Bahamas Investment Authority (BIA), which was established to reduce domestic and international investors’ bureaucratic delays. Operating from the Prime Minister’s office, the BIA has been designated a “one stop-shop” designed to simplify investing in The Bahamas. The BIA serves as the National Economic Council’s administrative arm (NEC) and the Investments Board.

Foreign Investors seeking to establish a business in The Bahamas must submit a project proposal with supporting documents to the BIA. The request will ultimately be considered by NEC, an agency headed by The Prime Minister, responsible for the executive management of the National Investment Policy. The NEC effectively is the decision-making body in respect of all commercial projects undertaken by foreign direct investors.

After approval by the NEC of a proposed investment project and following the establishment of the desired structure for the conduct of the intended business, the investor must make an application to the Ministry of Finance [Business Licence Unit] business license.

The Bahamian government restricts foreign investments in the following sectors with a few exceptions:

- Wholesale and retail operations.
- Commission agencies engaged in the import/export trade.
- Real estate and domestic property management agencies.
- Domestic newspaper and magazine publication.
- Domestic advertising and public relations firms.
- Security services.
- Domestic distribution and building supplies.
- Construction companies (except for unique structures for which international expertise is required).
- Personal cosmetics/beauty establishments.
- Shallow water fish, crustacean, mollusk, and sponge fishing operations.
- Auto and appliance service operations.
- Public transportation.
- International Investors may engage in the wholesale distribution of any product they produce locally.

The following represents areas targeted for international investors:

- Touristic resorts.
- Upscale condominium, timeshare, and second-home development.
- Information and data processing services.
- Assembly industries.
- High-tech services.
• Ship repair and other services.
• Light manufacturing for export.
• Agro-industries.
• Food processing.
• Agriculture.
• Banking and other financial services.
• Captive insurance.
• Aircraft services.
• Pharmaceutical manufacture.

All outward capital transfers and incoming transfers by non-residents require exchange control approval, and the Central Bank must approve this foreign direct investment. “Capital investment into The Bahamas remains subject to exchange controls,” reports the US Department of Commerce, “but as a practical matter, these controls have not been known to inhibit repatriation of approved investment capital.” Persons will be able to repatriate the entire proceeds from their real estate, including any profits, provided the purchase is registered with the Exchange Control Department of the Central Bank at the time of sale.

For commercial purposes, foreigners purchasing real estate or purchasing more than five acres must obtain a permit from the Investments Board. Permanent Residence has become very popular and accelerated consideration of application given to major international investors and owners of residences valued at B$1.5 million. To qualify for permanent economic residence, a person must invest a minimum of five hundred thousand Bahamian dollars (B$500,000) in The Bahamas.

Visas are not required of citizens of the USA, United Kingdom, or Canada, provided their stay does not exceed three weeks and that they have a return ticket leaving The Bahamas.
4 – SETTING UP A BUSINESS

As one of the most popular travel destinations worldwide, there is no doubt that The Bahamas is considered by many as an island state possessing strong economic, political, and social foundations.

Apart from the natural attributes inherited from its archipelagic landscape, the country also holds prominent potential as a burgeoning financial service center. There are thousands of professionals engaged in every aspect of financial services. Private banking and trust services, investments fund administration, accounting, legal services, e-commerce, insurance, shipping registration, and corporate services are everyday products and services. The existence of the country’s financial service industry hinges not only on the jurisdiction’s geographical assets but also on the tax advantages offered, creating the ideal synergy between the nation’s tourism and financial service sectors.

The formation of a corporate vehicle is perhaps the first step for individuals interested in having a commercial presence in the Bahamas. For non-residents interested in benefiting from the advantages offered by the Bahamas, the formation of an international business company (or IBC) is an ideal preference, popularly known for its efficient and convenient incorporation process its ability to obtain a bank account from a local financial institution. An IBC is a legally incorporated entity holding its registered office outside its beneficial owner’s residential jurisdiction.

For an IBC or any other foreign-owned business to operate in the Bahamas, it will need authorization from the Bahamas Investing Authority (BIA).

Several key initiatives have been rolled out by the Bahamas government to encourage the establishment of local and international businesses. One such initiative is the Commercial Enterprises Act (CEA) 2018, officially known as the Designation of Specified Commercial Enterprises and Specified Economic Zones in the Bahamas. This Act streamlined the Immigration administration for approved companies in targeted industries. This new Act allows work permits to be granted to an enterprise, whether Bahamian or non-Bahamian, for key personnel and management.

The following steps are required to become a commercial enterprise:

- An entity must be engaging in any of the approved areas of business.
- Apply along with supporting documents to the Commercial Enterprise Facilitation Unit.
- Be granted a specified commercial enterprise certificate.
- There is a minimum investment of $500,000 for non-Bahamian entities.

The approval is slated for one year, after which an application for extensions will need to be submitted.

INVESTMENT INCENTIVES

From time to time, The Bahamas government offers targeted investment incentives for particular types of projects.

All non-Bahamians, permanent residents, or citizens seeking to access a concession under the government’s targeted investment incentive must submit a BIA project proposal.

The labour laws of the Bahamas are designed to ensure fairness between employers and employees.

The labour laws also:

- Establish minimum standard hours of working and vacation with pay for employees.
- Provide for the grant of maternity and family leave.
- Provide redundancy payments to employees.
- Make provisions relating to notices for the termination of contracts of employment.
- Make provisions relating to summary dismissal and unfair dismissal.

The minimum wage in the Bahamas is BSD 5.25 per hour or BSD 210 per week.

The proper procedure for terminating employment varies according to the different categories of employees. Employees whose tenure is 90 days or fewer are neither entitled to notice nor compensation.

LABOUR UNIONS

Union membership – including dues payment – is not voluntary for Bahamians. In industries such as education and tourism (hotel workers), employees are pressured by the government to pay a part of their wages to union officials, even if they disagree with union policies and do not want to join the union. The present legal system puts union leaders in a position where they do not have to act in their members’ best interests.
6 – TAXATION

Until the implementation of Value Added Tax (VAT) in 2015, the Bahamian government raised over 50% of its revenue from import tariffs or duties.

The standard ad-valorem tariff for imported goods is 45%, but many items have duty rates, some such as computers, are zero-rated. All duty rates are subject to change at a moment’s notice. Bahamians residents shopping abroad are permitted to import BSD 500 worth of goods duty-free twice per year. The government of the Bahamas also charges a 7% ‘stamp tax’ on most imports.

TAX AND OTHER CONCESSIONS

Investment in the Bahamas takes place in an environment free from capital gains, inheritance, withholding, profit remittance, corporate royalties, sales, personal income, dividends, payroll, and interest taxes.

Stamp duty is chargeable at an ad-valorem rate on all property transactions, and a real property tax is charged on real estate holdings, except for land holdings in Freeport, Grand Bahama.

Additionally, investment incentives under the following Acts of Parliament include exemptions from the payment of customs duties on building materials, equipment, and approved raw materials and also from real property taxes for periods of up to 20 years:

- Export Manufacturing Industries Encouragement Act
- The Freeport, Grand Bahama Act, 1993
- Hotels Encouragement Act
- Industries Encouragement Act
- Spirits and Beer Manufacture Act
- The Tariff Act
- The Bahamas Free Trade Zone Act
- The Agricultural Manufactories Act
- The City of Nassau Revitalisation Act
- The Family Islands Development Encouragement Act

Incentives may be applied through an application to the relevant government department.

FREEPORT, GRAND BAHAMA ISLAND

The Island of Grand Bahama, one of the Islands of The Bahamas, comprises a land area of 530 square miles. Freeport is the capital city of the Island of Grand Bahama, and it is approximately 150 miles off the coast of Florida. Under the Hawksbill Creek, Grand Bahama (Deep Water Harbour and Industrial Area) Act of 1955 and the amendments to it (the Hawksbill Creek Agreement), the Grand Bahama Port Authority Limited (the Port Authority), a private company, acquired from the government of The Bahamas and private owners some 149,000 acres in Freeport (the Port Area).

To encourage the development of this land, the government granted to the Port Authority and its licensees’ certain concessions, which included exemption from customs duties on manufacturing supplies and other consumable stores as defined in the Hawksbill Creek Agreement, personal income taxes, corporate profit taxes, capital gains taxes or levies on capital appreciation, real property, and inventory taxes.
The customs duty exemption expires in 2054, and in 1993, the other exemptions were extended until August 2015. Goods for personal use or consumption are dutiable.

Investors wishing to conduct business in the Port Area are required to become licensees of the Port Authority. The licensing procedure is straightforward and transparent. An annual license fee is payable to the Port Authority by all licensees. The Port Authority may be contacted at:

INTERNATIONAL AGREEMENTS

The Bahamas has entered into tax information exchange agreements (TIEAs) with several countries, including the USA, Canada, and most European countries. These agreements form arrangements to cooperate in the exchange of information on tax matters. Signed agreements come into force only when necessary internal procedures in the signatory countries are completed.

As of August 2017, TIEAs were in force with several countries. A list of these countries can be found on the following website: https://www.bahamas.gov.bs/

Recently, TIEAs have also been signed with San Marino, New Zealand, Argentina, Belgium, Greenland, Iceland, Germany, Canada, Korea, Guernsey, Aruba, and South Africa.

BUSINESS LICENCE TAX

The Bahamas has a business license tax. The business license tax mostly depends on the turnover or revenues of the business. As examples:

1. There is no business license fee charge for any business where the turnover or revenues are less than $100,000.
2. For a business with revenues greater than BSD 100,000 but not exceeding BSD 500,000 per year, there shall be a tax of 0.5% of revenues.
3. For a business with a turnover higher than BSD 500,000 per annum but not exceeding BSD 5 million per annum, there shall be a tax of 0.75% of turnover.
4. For a business with a turnover higher than BSD 5 million per annum but not exceeding BSD 50 million per annum, there shall be a tax of 1.25% of turnover.
5. For a business with a turnover higher than BSD 50 million per annum but not exceeding BSD 100 million per annum, there shall be a tax of 1.75% of turnover.
6. For a business with a turnover higher than BSD 100 million per annum, there shall be a tax of 1.75% of turnover.

VALUE-ADDED TAX

The Bahamas government introduced a system of VAT in 2015 of 7.5%, and in 2018 it increased to 12%. VAT is a tax charged on all goods and most services that VAT-registered businesses provide in The Bahamas. All companies making annual revenues of more than $100,000 are required to become a VAT registered business. The tax rate is 12% of sale revenues, and businesses can file for a refund on their VAT purchases if their purchases exceed the amount of VAT collected. Companies supplying the following goods and services are exempt from charging VAT:

- Exports
• Domestic financial services
• Educational tuition
• Rentals
• Religious services
• Public medical health services
• Gambling and lotteries
• Charities

Businesses can register for VAT at the same time as registering for the business license. To register for VAT, the company must register within 14 days of commencing business if it is anticipated to meet the annual turnover threshold of B$100,000.
7 – ACCOUNTING & REPORTING

All businesses and professionals, local and foreign, operating in the Bahamas must adhere to the laws and regulations.

The Companies Act (1992) is the primary source of legal requirements regarding a company’s operation, including corporate disclosures. The Companies Act (1992) was broadly based on the UK Companies Act of 1948.

The Act prescribes the basis of incorporation, regulation, and other associations registered thereunder and made provisions for other matters relating to it. The Companies Act requires considerable disclosure and compliance requirements and provides for increased penalties for compliance failure. The Act addresses disclosure and other regulatory requirements about:

• Incorporation and registration
• Disclosures to be made in a prospectus
• Capitalization minimums
• Management and administration
• Duties and responsibilities of directors and other officers
• Matters relating to winding-up
• Registration and inspections
• Accounts and audit
• Annual reports
• Meetings and statutory filings.

An amendment to the Companies Act for Chapter 308 for the Companies Liquidation Rules 2012 now covers winding-up, insolvency, and company liquidations.

The Bahamas Institute of Chartered Accountants (BICA) licenses Chartered Accountants, and registered public accountants. Currently, there are over 300 licensed Chartered Accountants in The Bahamas. The requirements for a Chartered Accountants (CA) license include education and experience.

WHAT IS A BAHAMAS, CHARTERED ACCOUNTANT?

To qualify as a CA in the Bahamas in most instances, an individual has to be licensed as a chartered accountant or certified public accountant in the US, UK, or Canada. BICA recognizes licenses from the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants (AICPA), The Association of Chartered Certified Accountants (ACCA), the UK’s Institutes of Chartered Accountants of England and Whales (ICAEW), and The Canadian Institute of Certified Public Accountants (CPA). BICA issues its license if it is satisfied that a person is a member of one of the recognized bodies and has the requisite experience, while not necessarily being licensed to practice as a registered accountant or auditor. Therefore, membership in BICA is restrictive.

Registration as a member of the BICA entitles an individual to use the designation ‘Chartered Accountant’ and the initials ‘CA’ or FCA after their name. Registration as a licensed member of the BICA entitles an individual to use the designation ‘Public Accountant’ and the initials’ P.A.’ after their name.

Regularly, draft acts incorporate changes based on insightful comments submitted by the public. BICA investigates matters concerning conflict of interest and complaints against members of the institute through the investigations committee, issues professional practice notes that guide accountants on specific topics or issues. It provides membership and license approvals to qualified accountants that apply and meets the requirements’ Act and regulations.

COMMERCIAL ENTITY SUBSTANCE REPORTING

In December 2018, the Bahamas government passed the Commercial Entities (Substance Requirements) Act, 2018 (CESRA). This Act states that all incorporated or commercial entities have a reporting obligation to confirm whether the entities’ economic substance exists in The Bahamas.

CESRA excludes from the definition those entities which are resident-owned in The Bahamas and which conduct core business activities in The Bahamas and those which are centrally managed and controlled in foreign jurisdictions and which are tax resident of the respective jurisdictions.

The original deadline for meeting CESRA’s substantial economic presence requirement was June 30th, 2019. However, this deadline was extended and deferred to the calendar year 2020. The filings are due within nine months following the entity’s fiscal year-end. A failure to meet the substantial economic presence requirement will ultimately result in the entity’s name being struck from the Register of Companies in The Bahamas. A breach of the substantial economic presence requirement may also subject the entity to an administrative fine of $150,000.
